ENERGY SAVING MODULE

Cleopatra Energy saving module

The energy saving module is an advanced stand-by solution that can be applied to a wide range of Cleopatra products. Each Cleopatra product has its own unique characteristics, and these variables can be easily adjusted through smart software settings to ensure optimal performance.

The main advantage is the prevention of unnecessary energy consumption. With a simple press of a button, the indicator light changes from green to red, clearly informing the user that the product has been activated. After a preset period of time, the system automatically returns to stand-by mode, maintaining efficiency without compromising comfort.

This system is particularly ideal for facilities where visitor numbers are difficult to predict. In addition to substantial energy savings, it significantly reduces strain on the installation, resulting in lower maintenance requirements and an extended product lifespan.
